

Storm damages city symbol in Wayne

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

It has been a symbol of strength in the Wayne community for more than five years standing firm against wind and rain storms, but the Jan. 14 fury of Mother Nature was just too much for the perched eagle situated in front of the 29th District Court.

The treacherous wind and bitter cold knocked off one wing of the eagle which was constructed in 1986, according to City Manager Secretary Doris Nall.

"It was created by a local man, Hubert Rakotz, who was also a city employee at the time," Nall said. "In 1980, a bad storm destroyed the tree in front of the court house which was actually City Hall at the time."

The top part of the tree was destroyed by the storm which crashed into City Hall. Former City Manager Tom Daily suggested Rakotz sculpt something unique in order to preserve the rest of the tree, according to Nall.

"He used a chainsaw and other sculpting tools," Nall said. "Rakotz stained and painted the eagle to look life-like. The official unveiling celebration occurred July 2, 1986."

It's going to take a little more than needle and thread, however, to mend this eagle's wing, Nall said.

"The Department of Public Works is looking at it right now to see what needs to be done to fix it," Nall said. "We've been considering moving the eagle because it's slowly deteriorating."

Citizens flocked to the unveiling of the eagle in front of the Wayne court building in July of 1986.

Last month, a severe winter storm damaged the city symbol and broke off one of the extended wings.

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Romulus man convicted of murder

Michael Anthony Anderson of Romulus was convicted recently of murdering an elderly Ypsilanti woman last summer.

Anderson, 30, was charged with first degree murder for killing Frances Beck, 78, July 24, after he robbed her of her purse outside a drug store. He also was charged with armed robbery.

Detectives said Anderson first grabbed the victim's purse as she passed his truck. Then, they state, he ran Beck over with his truck, killing her.

Anderson will be sentenced by Judge Patrick Conlin Feb. 27. He faces life imprisonment without parole.

Volunteers needed for recycling

Several new volunteers will be needed for the city recycling center efforts this Saturday, Recycling Coordinator Jeff Martell revealed today.

Volunteers—age 18 and over—may call Martell at City Hall prior to Saturday, or may show up from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m.

Volunteers are asked to help take the recycling donations from passenger vehicles outside City Hall and place them in recycling bins.

Martell said that currently 200 or more cars are responding to the recycling effort.

Roundtree appointed to city board

John G. Roundtree, a Romulus resident for the past 26 years, has been named to the city board of review.

Roundtree, who has served on the property disposition committee and the venture board of the Downriver Community Conference, fills the seat formerly occupied by Jason P. Lovette. The term lasts for three years.

Lovette, who served on the board of 15 years, did not seek reappointment.

Pastor Wells will be cited

The Rev. Dr. John Wells, pastor of the Union Grove Missionary Baptist Church of 6312 Wayne Road, Romulus, will be cited by his congregation and friends on his 82nd birthday.

The celebration will be at 7 p.m. Feb. 15 at the church. The guest speaker for the event will be the Rev. Frederick Sampson of the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Detroit.

TIFA members terms extended

Five members of the local Tax Increment Finance Authority have been reappointed to new terms that will expire in 1995.

The five include Phillip Renke, Harland Whichello, Michael Hoffman, David Bales and Pat Patterson.

Councilman's brother dies

Veteran Romulus City Councilman Ellis Pennington was excused from attending the Monday night council session, because of the death of his brother, Hubert.

Mayor Pro Tem Mary Ann Banks and city council members approved a condolence message to Pennington.

Senior center closed next Wednesday

The Romulus Senior Citizen Center will be closed Feb. 12 to mark the birthday of late President Abraham Lincoln.

It also was announced that seniors will be offered tickets for $42 for the upcoming SH-BOOM show March 16.

Tickets will cover transportation, an Irish lunch at the Masonic Great Hall and the show.

Romulus woman honored by friends

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

More than 100 family members and friends turned out recently to honor Lulu Bowles-Harris of Romulus on her 90th birthday.

The celebration was at the Bethany Apostolic Faith Church, where she has been a member since its founding in 1948. Three pastors have guided the church membership since its opening, including the late Elder Horace L. Jackson Sr. (the founder), the late District Elder Henderson Alston Jr. and the current pastor, Elder Reginald L. Williams Sr.

The birthday honoree was surprised by being reintroduced to a childhood friend, R.P. Campbell of Highland Park—whom she hadn't seen for 75 years. Both grew up in Texarkana, Tex. and have families that consist of five living generations.

Harris thrilled her friends with her reciting from memory various Bible verses and poems. She also lead a hymn sing and discussions on the "good old days."

In her younger days, Harris gardened, made quilts, canned food, operated a restaurant and catered shrimp and hot tamales.

"She also recalls the birth of her eight children, the family move to a Wayne farm, where they pitched a tent under a tree and established roots."

Her vivid memory can still picture the "cowboy days" of her late parents, her childhood teacher Professor Muckaroy, her growing up in the south with five brothers and 11 sisters, her moving to Michigan and marriage to the late Frank Harris.

She also recalls the birth of her eight children, the family move to a Wayne farm, where they pitched a tent under a tree and established roots until they completed their two-bedroom home.

She remembers the days when there was no indoor plumbing, no streetlights or sidewalks, burning wood and coal for heat and cooking, straining rain-barrel water for bathing, washing clothes and cooking. She also can recall when local schools did not welcome her children.

Edison begins improvements

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Do you remember the massive summer storm that struck the area on July 7, 1991?

Do you remember the aftermath?

Detroit Edison area managers feel confident that you do.

Officials from the utility provider arrived in Romulus last week to announce major plans designed to eliminate any duplication of a similar major outage such as the July storm which was the worst in the 88 year history of the company in terms of customers affected. Power was lost at homes and businesses of 683,599 customers during the storm.

While admitting performance in storm emergencies needs strengthening, Detroit Edison officials said power was restored to customers three and half times faster than the next worst (ice) storm in the history of the firm which occurred March 1, 1976.

Detroit Edison, the largest electric utility in the state, will be budgeting an additional $175 million over the next three years to improve systems reliability and customer service, according to spokesmen.

The new upgrades come in response to comments from area customers and the Michigan Public Service Commission.

The upgrades will include:

- 114 additional circuits will be created over the next three years to break-up high-load poor performing circuits.

- Tree trimming efforts will be accelerated, and tree removal and replacement programs will continue.

- More frequent and thorough inspections of lines, poles and switches will be initiated.

- Infrastructure improvements are being planned, including those on wire and lighting protection equipment.

- 400 new phone trunk lines will be added to feed a "voice response unit" that would enable 36,000 to 40,000 customer calls to be answered per hour, compared to 2,500 on the current system.

Inspection teams began in the area in December and actual repairs will begin this month, as 225 three-person line crews spread out over the Detroit Edison service area.

Many of the Detroit Edison inspection teams will be carrying $70,000 infrared cameras and/or binoculars, Robert J. Buckler, vice president—Divisions, said. They will be searching for the weak links in the system.

The circuit patrol crews will be working daylight hours seven days a week and will be carrying company identification, Buckler explained.

Citizens urged to report light outages to city

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Following complaints about darkened streetlights from Romulus Councilman Jimmie Raspberry recently, the city department of assessment and Detroit Edison have implemented a new printed form to be used in reporting streetlight outages.

The printed form leaves space for a date and name of the individual reporting the outage, the closest street, the cross street and how many lights are out.

Raspberry told fellow council members early in January that residents were complaining to him that Detroit Edison was not repairing the burned out or vandalized street lights promptly enough.

Matthew Raftary, director of assessment, in a memorandum to Mayor Beverly McAnally said, "Since this department and the city do not have the manpower to systematically canvass the city for streetlight outages, we must rely on residents reporting such outages to the city."

Additionally, the Romulus Police Department does report outages to this department, he continued, but, "it is somewhat sporadic and requires reminders to the officers to be on the lookout for non-working streetlights."

Raftary added, "Typically streetlights are repaired within 10 working days. However, there is no confirmation by Detroit Edison to indicate when a reported light has been repaired."

"We are only informed by a resident, when the light has not been repaired and assume repairs have been completed when notification by the affected residents cease," he said.

"We have communicated a reminder to police of our need for the officers' awareness per Mr. Raspberry's request," he concluded.

In another matter, Mayor Beverly McAnally has urged members of the city council to study a recent resolution from Brownstown Township regarding a mobile home park tax issue.

McAnally said because of the massive rise in values of mobile homes, the city should examine the Brownstown resolution and see how it applies to the Romulus area.

"Many of these homes are quite elaborate and are paying far less taxes than an equivalent standard home, even though they are sending just as many children to our local schools," the mayor said.

The Brownstown Board of Trustees adopted a resolution that supports a more equitable and fair tax for mobile homes in licensed home parks.

"In 1949 to provide inexpensive and convenient housing to defense workers, the 'trailer coach' (or mobile home) was developed, along with the mobile home park," the resolution stated.

But such "once primitive trailer coaches that averaged little more than 400 square feet have evolved into manufactured homes of much larger footage," the resolution continues.

No matter how large or small the current mobile homes are, residents are still paying just $36 a year in property taxes—while still receiving the same services from the township, county, state and local school districts, the mayor said.

The resolution also calls for supporting current Michigan Senate Bill 291 and House Bills 4151 and 4152, which call for a fairer tax plan on such homes.

Romulus Police Chief Fred Dansby has asked that the city seek bids on a new drug testing provision in the police officer's association contract.

Dansby said that Lt. R.C. Brown had contacted area police departments for information on laboratories that conduct drug testing.

The Flat Rock Police Department provided Brown with a list of authorized laboratories.

"All the departments use a similar system as the one we have in place, where the sample is sealed by the officer and his/her initials are placed on the sealing tape," Brown wrote.

Metro Airport will soon become 'smoke free' zone

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

An updated Wayne County smoking policy could make Metro Airport in Romulus the first smoke-free international airport in the world, Wayne County Medical Director Donald Lawrenchuk revealed this week.

A draft of the smoking policy states "the national smoking death toll is 350,000 per year, equivalent to having three jumbo jets crash at Metro Airport every day of the year."

"If just one of those jumbo jets crashed at Metro, the public would demand better safety and health precautions," Lawrenchuk said. And "since 70 percent of the U.S. adult population are non-smokers, it necessitates that Wayne County support the rights of those non-smokers."

Thus the new policy would ban smoking "throughout all county-owned or operated facilities and vehicles."

The policy thus would prohibit smoking inside airport buildings (as well as other county-owned facilities) and aboard county-owned vehicles such as shuttle buses, etc.

Federal regulations already prohibit smoking on most airplanes.

Employees found in violation of the smoking policy will be disciplined.

Since surveys also show that nine of 10 smokers would like to quit, the policy draft states the county health department will assist them in their bid to modify their smoking habits.

Lawrenchuk expects the policy change to be voted on in March.

Work program approved

A work program agreement that will permit 34th District Judge Felix F. Rogalle to assign Romulus area work to defendants as part of alternate sentencing efforts has been approved by local Teamsters Union Local 214.

Under the agreement Rogalle can assign defendants to the Romulus Work Program "to perform minor labor-type tasks for the city provided the tasks do not involve any of the following:

- Participants shall not perform any work that may result in the lay-off of any regular union employee.

- Participants for safety reasons may not operate any type of motorized equipment.

- Participants shall not be considered for full-time employment based upon their participation in this program."

The agreement was signed by Rogalle, James Panos, director of the Romulus DPW, and Ron Collins, of Local 214.

Growth is goal of officials

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Encouraging more residential development is the focus of Sumpter Township officials in 1992.

"We have three or four developments we want to start building," Sumpter Township Supervisor Marvin Banotai said. "Improvement of the sewers and drains is necessary for development, and our 1992 goal is to see those improvements take place."

Because of its high water table, fields often cannot be planted until July, the supervisor said. Improvements in drains and sewers are needed to help township farmers and growers as well as to open the door for residential and other development.

"We're also working to eliminate the blight problem in the township, and that is going to be a major issue this year," Banotai said.

Clerk Joan Oddy sees also sees township development plus sewer and drain improvements as major issues for Sumpter Township in 1992.

"We had 57 new housing starts as of December, which is the most that we've recorded. Our growth is at an all time high," Oddy said. "We're very proud that they are all nice homes, and they are providing a positive addition to the township."

Oddy said the township is encouraging development, but, at the same time, striving to preserve the rural atmosphere of the township.

Though the months ahead, the township will continue its negotiations with Wayne County on the airport wetlands exchange.

Seniors honored

Fifty family members and friends attended a reception and tea hosted by the Daughters of the American Revolution Jan. 19 to honor six local high school seniors.

The event, sponsored by the Ypsilanti Chapter of the DAR, honored the following seniors who were chosen for their leadership, dependability, service and patriotism: George Barr Jr. of Belleville High School, Heather Brame of Calvary Christian Academy, Rebecca Stinedurf of Fairway Baptist High School, Audra Valentine of Lincoln High School, Michelle Scheer of Willow Run High School and Bree Dusbiber of Ypsilanti High School.

Each student received a DAR Good Citizen pin, a certificate of recognition, a small American flag, a plant and other mementoes.

The meeting was chaired by Edith Knapp. Dorothy Kellas and Barbara Hale chaired the ceremony and tea which followed.

A get-acquainted tea, hosted by Dorothy Kellas, DAR good citizens chairman, also honored the seniors.

Van Buren Park critters cope well with winter weather

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Bellefonte City Editor

Four-footed residents of Van Buren Park have weathered the cold, snowy winter well. In fact, they seem bright-eyed and bushy-tailed as the chilly weather gasps its last icy breaths.

"They've been pretty active all winter. They've all fared very well during the cold weather," said Chris Swinson, a park employee who serves as an animal caretaker.

"Our Arctic fox, Josie, really thrives on the cold weather. I put straw in Josie's house, but she pushes it out and goes outdoors to sleep on the snow," Swinson said. "She's always outside. Sometimes, standing on top of her house."

The other two foxes, Red and Smoke, also have weathered the winter well as have the three coyotes, four Sika deer, hawks and owls, Swinson reported.

"We feed the foxes dog food with a can of cat food added each week. They also eat 15 to 20 grapes a week, which is a real treat for them. I usually feed them about four grapes each day," Swinson said.

Swinson and Jeff Hogston, who feed the animals and maintain their quarters, are looking forward to spring when some of the animals housed inside will be placed in outdoor pens.

"We've got a busy spring and summer ahead," said Swinson. "We're going to build an in-ground pen for the prairie dogs. It will have a concrete shell, so that they can't dig out, and then it will be filled with sand so they can burrow in it. We're hoping to add more prairie dogs to the pair we have now."

When spring arrives, Pugsley, the turkey vulture, and an injured owl will join other wild birds in outdoor cages. The foxes also will be moved to outdoor pens in another area of the park.

"The three females and one buck were protected by their heavy coats this winter, and they have a shelter inside their pen to protect them from the cold," Swinson said. "We're expecting to see some young ones this summer."

Many of the animals in the park are injured animals that have been referred to Parks and Recreation Director Michael Long for shelter until they are rehabilitated. Those that cannot be returned to their natural habitat because of their physical limitations are housed at the park. The Van Buren Recreation Department is one of only a few agencies authorized by the state Department of Natural Resources to care for injured wildlife.

"We get calls to pick up all kinds of animals. For example, one day we got a call to pick up a Canada goose with a broken wing that was in the road," Swinson said. "We had three guys with nets and we finally trapped the goose by a fence. After we brought it to a veterinarian for examination, we found that the wing couldn't be treated. The vet said the wing had been broken a year or so before, and it had healed with an curve that couldn't be repaired. We are keeping the goose here in the park."

In addition to some of the unique animals housed in the park, the 101-acre wooded area has its share of native species.

"We have squirrels, rabbits, raccoons, woodchucks (groundhogs) and a small herd of deer in the park,"

Swinson said. "We also have owls, hawks, blue herons, mallard ducks and many other birds."

Swinson noted that the groundhogs have already awakened from their winter naps and are active in the park. Although he is not sure if they saw their shadows at exactly 11 a.m. Feb. 2, he is sure that they have seen their share of sunshine and shadows during the past week.

Davis strikes gold on mats

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Fred Davis spent about two minutes on the mats at Harper Woods on Saturday, and during that short period of time the Inkster High School heavyweight proved he is one of the finest wrestlers in the area.

Davis pinned both of his would-be opponents, spending less than a minute with each of them, to capture the gold medal in his weight class at the invitational.

"He's has a lot of talent," says Inkster coach Sam Ellis, a former heavyweight and state finalist from Dearborn Fordson and Eastern Michigan University.

"And each time he steps on to the mat, you can see the confidence grow."

Ellis has brought the sport of wrestling back to Inkster High School. The school hasn't fielded a team for nearly a quarter of a century.

Davis' first-place lifted the Vikings to a sixth-place overall finish at the 10-team invitational. The Vikings piled up 62 1/2 points. Lutheran East won the team championship with a total of 172 points.

In the finals Davis pinned Eric Carchio, representing the host school, in 51 seconds. He also destroyed Hank Humphries of Notre Dame in 40 seconds to qualify for the finals.

Inkster also produced a third-place medalist in 103-pounder Marcellis Fizer, who defeated Memphis' Tom Klida on a fall in 25 seconds. Teammate Hosea O'Day also finished third after defeating his 130-pound rival, Byron Bruce, 15-0.

Barry Alexander, a 145-pounder, also won one of his matches.

In a double dual meet that involved Suburban Athletic Conference rivals Willow Run and Oak Park, the Vikings failed to win. Inkster lost a close 37-30 decision to Willow Run and fell to Oak Park 48-18.

"I felt our kids should have beaten Willow Run," said Ellis.

Vikings who posted victories in the Willow Run meet included: Lorenzo Lockhart (112), Barry Alexander (152), Derrick Johnson (171), Corey Whitehead (189) and heavyweight Fred Davis.

Against Oak Park, the winners were Davis, Remoni Bozeman (125) and Lockhart (119).

The Vikings also put on the mats eight junior varsity wrestlers and five of them: Chauntz Harris (140), Clinton Smith (heavyweight), Henry Williams (heavyweight), Willie Rodgers (160) and Ellee Reddington (152).

Inkster will return to the home mats at 6:30 this evening against Highland Park.

The Vardar III 78 soccer club (above) will get an opportunity to play for the 1992 national title thanks to an impressive victory over Cleveland at the regional tournament. Members of the regional championship team include: Robert Vega (from row, from left), Neil Williams, Tony Moucoulis, Todd Smith, Ty Fowler and Todd Stonestreet; second row are Andre Ware, Jeremy Stillings, Ryan Wells, Scott Sersen, Jonathan Schack, Chris Charboneau, Jeff Tomlinson, Mark Jovanovic and coach Morris Lupenec. ## Vardar wins regional title

Vardar won the coveted title in Ohio where the local kickers came through with an untarnished record. They qualified for the finals and clashed with an international club from Cleveland.

Vardar buried their opposition 5-1 to win the title and qualify for the national championships. The nationals will be staged in late March in Atlanta, GA.

"These kids have come a long way," said Vardar coach Morris Lupenec. "They worked and played as a team—and that's what won it for us. We're looking forward this spring to the trip down south and hopefully we can bring a national title back to this area."

Vardar is made up of players drawn from the area and the lineup includes kickers from as far west as Brighton, Lupenec added. The nationals are on March 27-29.

Zebras are 9-0

Wayne whips Wyandotte, 73-41, to remain unbeaten in Wolverine 'A'

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The Wayne Memorial cage express roared past Wyandotte Friday night and continued to speed unopposed toward the Wolverine 'A' Conference championship.

With chief engineer Chuck Henry at the throttle, Wayne has now won nine in a row in the conference and are all alone in first-place.

However, they still have a stop on their schedule at Belleville. Belleville, the defending champ, definitely will not surrender its crown without a fight.

But for the present, anyway, Wayne is in the driver's seat in the league.

"We have been steadily improving on defense and everybody is contributing on offense," said Henry, whose club took a 11-1 overall record into the game Tuesday night against Ypsilanti. "I just hope the bubble doesn't burst."

And Ypsilanti could do that. The Braves have the manpower to go along with an excellent tradition to detour the Wayne express, according to the Wayne coach.

"We're going to find out just how improved we are when we play Ypsi," Henry said. "They have a 6-9 center and a fine supporting cast. It should be an interesting game."

Wyandotte stayed with the title-hopefuls the first period and trailed only by a basket, 16-14, when the second frame began. Demarco Robinson and Rick Barnes provided the break-away power that gave the Zebras a 34-23 lead at the halfway mark.

Then, with Robinson tossing in seven of his 19 points in the third period, Wayne went on a scoring spree that left their conference rivals looking at a 24-point deficit (53-29). The outcome was never in doubt or challenged by the Bears in the concluding eight minutes.

Robinson, who nabbed eight rebounds, finished the evening with a game-high 19 points. Teammates Barnes and Dontez Prewitt each contributed 12.

Friday night Wayne will return home to host Lincoln Park. The Parkers have the dubious honor to be on the Wayne schedule for the annual Winter Coming Home festivities.

But Henry warns that the Railsplitters are "an improving team and could be troublesome."

"You can never look ahead," he said. "Lincoln Park has the potential. I just hope that they don't discover it against us."

Westland John Glenn's Kevin Champion (35) breezes past a Livonia Franklin defender to make this layup. Champion and his teammates had a surprisingly easy time against the Patriots, beating their conference rivals, 68-47, for one of their three victories last week. ANP photo by Larry Divizio

Rockets win 3 games in 5 days

By TERRY LYNCH
ANP Special Writer

Putting in some overtime paid off for the Westland John Glenn Rockets last week.

Coach Pat Bennett's cagers rolled to three big victories in five days, capping their week's labor Friday night with a 64-58 triumph over division foe North Farmington.

The win was the Rockets' fourth-in-a-row and gave them momentum at just the right time, according to their coach.

"It was a pretty close game all the way," Bennett said. "But we had a little more than they did in that final period."

Glenn outscored North 20-12 in the finale to secure the victory.

But the Rockets had to make the right adjustments to survive the determined North defense.

"North slowed the game by using a three-quarter court press which forced us to walk the ball up rather than run it," Bennett explained.

Glenn countered and then subdued the North press by putting 6-5 Kevin Tomaszewski and Ken Taylor (6-6) under the basket so that they would draw attention and clog up the middle.

The strategical move paid off as Tomaszewski, a starter, drew plenty of attention, allowing Taylor to roam free. Taylor scored 18 points for the evening, 11 of those came in the second half. Guards Michael Orr and Aaron Scheffer added 14 and 12 points, respectively. Tomaszewski finished with six.

The victory followed the Tuesday evening lopsided Glenn rout of Livonia Franklin. The Rockets shot down the Patriots 68-47. "We were pleasantly surprised by this game," Bennett said.

Champs dunk Belleville tankers, 127-59

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Monroe, the defending Wolverine 'A' Conference swimming and diving champ, showed Belleville why they are considered one of the best teams in the area.

The champs overpowered Belleville 127-59 in their conference meeting last week, sweeping all but one event. That victory gave the champs a perfect 5-0 conference and an 8-0 overall record.

The loss left the Tigers and coach Frank Vicchy with a respectable 3-2 record in the Wolverine. They're 6-3 on the season.

Belleville managed to salvage only one first place. That victory came in the 100-yard backstroke where Tom Filar churned a 1:01.36 in winning the event.

It could have been even worse for the Tigers, according to Vicchy.

"You know, we swam poorly," Vicchy said, "and they (Monroe) didn't swim to their potential. We can thank our lucky stars for that."

Belleville was back in the pool Tuesday night. The Tigers took on, and should not have had any trouble with, a rebuilding Westland John Glenn team. They will meet league rival, Trenton, tonight at 7 in the home pool.

Trenton also is rebuilding, according to Vicchy.

It's showtime for Wayne

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

How good is the Wayne Memorial swim team?

That question may be answered this evening when Wayne coach Michael Greuber takes his Zebras up against the undefeated and undisputed Wolverine 'A' Conference champ, Monroe.

Both teams enter the 7 p.m. meet at Wayne with untarnished 5-0 records, however, Monroe will definitely have an edge, according to Greuber.

"They're the champs, and until proven otherwise they're the team to beat," said the first-year Zebra coach.

But you can bet that Wayne will give the champs a run for their money. Wayne has an impeccable 8-0 record and may have the depth to sink their visitors. Monroe definitely will have the frontrunners.

Wayne is coming off of superlative victories at the Western Wayne Invitational and they also sank Southgate Anderson, 116-69.

Against Anderson, Wayne swept 10 of the 11 events. The Zebras also had a pair of double-event winners. Ray Blair coasted to victory in the 200-yard individual medley (2:16.3) and he was first to the wall for the 100-yard breaststroke (1:07.0).

Off to their best start in recent years, Wayne Memorial swimmers are boasting a perfect 8-0 record as they prepare to host undisputed and undefeated Wolverine 'A' Conference champ, Monroe. Coach Michael Greuber's Zebras also claimed their first Western Wayne Invitational title in recent years. Pictured above are team members with the coveted trophy. ANP photo by Ken Garner

In the meantime, Jason Bodden turned in a 2:01.4 in winning the 200-yard freestyle. His 53.0 was good for a first-place in the 100-yard freestyle.

Greuber had the winning lineup for the 200-yard medley relay as Michael Adkins, Blair, Dan Missig and Tom McIntyre covered the distance in 1:54.1.

In the 200-yard freestyle relay, Blair, Tim Farrell, Tom McIntyre and Bodden were clocked in the winning time of 1:42.4.

The Wayne 400-yard freestyle relay, with Missig, Dan Kreklau, Adkins and Dan Barnett posted a 3:55.3 in winning the event.

Farrell also accounted for a first place in the 500-yard freestyle (5:42.9), while McIntyre won the 50-yard freestyle in 24.4 and Barrett touched in at 1:25.4 to win the 100-yard butterfly.

In the meantime, Plymouth Salem sailed past Westland John Glenn 138-50 in a Western Lakes meet. The loss dipped the Rockets' divisional record to 1-2 on the year. They broke into the winning column for the first time this season earlier in the week with a close 90-83 victory over Livonia Franklin.

The Glenn victory was secured thanks to a 1-2-3 finish by Rocket swimmers Jeff Kolbas, Jamie Freese and Cliff Bellenir in the 100-yard freestyle. Kolbas' winning time was 56.25.

Robichaud cagers await Inkster

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Inkster coach Spencer Grant won't have to worry about getting his Vikings up for the Friday night big conference game.

"We play Robichaud," the first-year Inkster basketball coach said. "They're natural rivals. And there is a lot of pride involved here. I don't think I have to tell my kids what's at stake."

And you can bet an improving Robichaud team will not need the additional verbiage. They lost to their cross-town foes by 11 the first time around and they will be out for revenge.

The Bulldogs will also have the home court advantage--and that counts for something.

Turnovers, a bundle of them, cost Inkster a 60-49 decision at Oak Park Friday night. The Vikings had lost to their Suburban Athletic Conference rivals only by one in the conference opener in December.

"We turned over the ball at key times, especially in the fourth quarter," Grant said. "It just killed us. It's due to the lack of our experience."

Inkster jumped out in front 14-6 after the first eight minutes thanks to the board work and scoring of freshman Al White who was relentless at both ends of the court. However, the Redskins stormed back and cut the lead to 30-27 at halftime, then outscored their visitors 18-14 to take a one-point lead into the final period.

And the Vikings, for all purposes, could have gone home after that. Oak Park battered them 21-9 in the finale.

White finished with 16 points, 17 rebounds and three blocked shots. Carlos Johnson added 12 while Jimmy Outlaw picked up six points and 12 rebounds.

Johnson and White, who split 20 of their team's 25 points in the pivotal third stanza, led the assault. Johnson finished with 18 points, while White again was awesome as he came through with 21 points, 18 rebounds and also had four blocked shots.

Outlaw, a freshman, also was in double figures. He contributed 13 points and grabbed 10 rebounds.

The mean season

It happens every year.

Annually, that is. As the dreaded month of January comes sneaking to a close, the darkest, meanest and most treacherous of all the calendar denominations approaches. Yeah, it's here. February...yech.

There is no cure for this month. None. Sure, they've tried to trick us by sticking Valentine's Day right smack in the middle and there's Groundhog Day (a personal favorite national holiday of mine). And then our illustrious politicians and lawmakers decided to honor the birthdays of both Washington and Lincoln on one day to create yet another holiday during this dismal time. It isn't as though people haven't TRIED to offer some comfort to those of us who must continue to scuddle through this bad time as best we can.

This year, we are offered the opportunity to demonstrate the level of our skill in overcoming depression (no pun intended, but it's there, nonetheless) in facing not only this month but having an economy which mirrors every evil thing about it.

Look outside. See that gloom. Feel those freezing winds with either snow or rain pelting down attempting to provide a breeding ground so pneumonia germs can fester and populate our feeble little bodies already wracked with strain and stress of Christmas debts. This is not a good time for anybody. Even the Marquis DeSade would have drawn the line at this and it's rumored that Charles Manson and Jeffrey Dahmer BOTH planned their social calendars around this time of the year.

Understanding my less-than-cheerful demeanor regarding this time of the year, one of my co-workers constantly exposed to my wicked nature and less-than-gentle comments and opinions regarding everything this time of year suggested that I go home and bake the following cake.

He, and other members of the staff, then suggested that this would be a fine birthday cake for someone they all knew and loved whose mood swings and feelings about this month just might have something to do with the nearing of a rather, er, delicate birthday in her life.

After reading this recipe (printed EXACTLY as given to me), I'm definitely going to try it.

It just may cure my birthday, er, February blues.

Best-ever rum cake

1 quart rum
1 cup butter
1 teaspoon sugar
2 large eggs
2 cups dried fruit
Baking powder
1 teaspoon soda
Lemon juice
Brown sugar
Nuts

Before you begin, sample the rum to check for quality. Good, isn't it? Now select a large mixing bowl. Check the rum again. It must be just right. Be sure the rum is of the highest quality. Pour 1 cup of rum into a glass and drink it as fast as you can.

With an electric mixer, beat 1 cup butter in a large fluffy bowl...add 1 teaspoon of sugar and beat again.

Meanwhile, make sure the rum is of the highest quality. Try another cup. Add 2 large eggs, 2 cups of dried fruit and beat until high.

If the dried fruit gets stuck in the beaters, just pry it loose with a screwdriver. Sample the rum again to check for toncistcity.

Nest, sift 3 cups of baking powder, a pinch of rum, a swaspoon of today and a cup of pepper or salt (by this time, it really shouldn't matter).

Sample the rum again. Sift 912 pints of lemon juice. Fold in the chopped butter and strained nuts. Add 1 babble-poon of brown sugar or whatever color you can find. Mix well.

Grease the oven and turn the cake pan to 350 degrees and bake until poothtick comes out clean.

Or, throw everything but any remaining rum away. Drink whatever's left and take a nap.

First, there's the aroma. Strong, yeasty and completely compelling, the scent of baking bread is a perfume that delights the senses.

Then, the crusty, fragile loaves emerge from the oven, to cool just long enough to be sliced and eaten with lots of fresh butter.

Bread...one of the very first foods known to man and one that is again considered to be the staff of life. Consider that the newest trend in nutrition is the complex carbohydrate. That phrase will be the nutritional and health food fad for the 90s. And the very best source of these complex carbohydrates is none other than the timeless loaf of bread.

Carbohydrates are made up of carbon, hydrogen and oxygen. Two classes of these carbohydrates exist, simple and complex. Sugars, such as table sugar (sucrose), honey, corn syrup and such are called simple carbohydrates. They contain only one or two glucose (or related sugar) molecules. Starches are called complex carbohydrates. Chemically they are chains of as many as 3,000 or more tiny glucose units linked together.

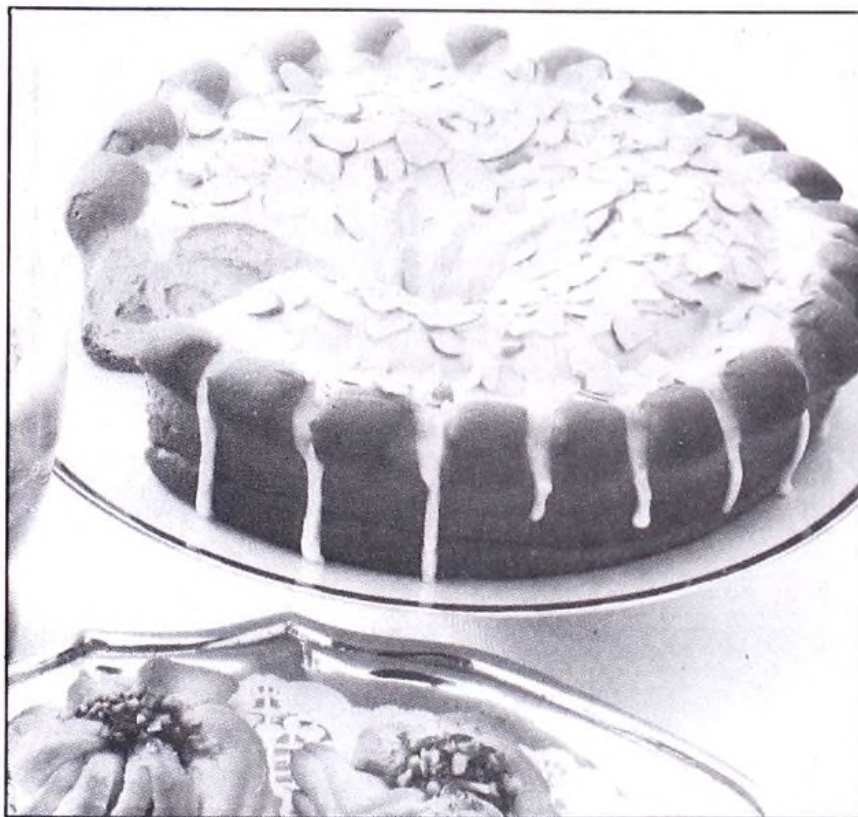

During digestion, starch and sugars are broken down into single sugar molecules before being absorbed into the body and used for energy. The preferred fuel of the body for energy is carbohydrates. Without them, the body is forced to use protein or fat for energy, an inefficient way for it to function.

That means that bread, wonderful, soft, flavorful bread is one of the very best sources of energy known. No wonder people have been eating bread since it was first baked about the time man discovered fire. Now, nutritionists are reaffirming what grandma knew years and years ago...it's good for you.

So, perhaps it's necessary to forego the extra dollop or two of butter formerly slathered on this wonderful treat as it comes warm from the oven in fear of the cholesterol police, but warm wonderful bread will satisfy even the heartiest appetites and tempt those who have foregone this wonderful, nutritious food in an effort to cut calories.

Here are recipes for a few guaranteed to bring back memories of the time when bread was considered a necessary staple of every meal.

Enjoy.

Rich yeast dough

From this basic dough come several delicious bread recipes. Ease the time crunch even further by mixing and freezing the dough up to three months ahead.

6 1/2 cups all-purpose flour
2 packages active dry yeast
1 1/2 cups milk
3/4 cup margarine or butter
1/2 cup packed brown sugar
1/2 teaspoon salt
5 eggs

In a large mixer bowl, combine 3 cups of the flour and the yeast. In a medium saucepan, heat milk, margarine, sugar and salt just until warm (115-120 degrees) and margarine is almost melted, stirring constantly. Add to flour mixture along with eggs. Beat with an electric mixer on low speed for 1/2 minute. Beat on high speed for 3 minutes. Stir in remaining flour to make a soft dough.

Place dough in a greased bowl. Grease top of dough lightly. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double (1 to 1 1/2 hours). Stir dough down (it will be sticky). Divide into thirds, about 1 pound each. Place each in a separate plastic bag. Tie, leaving ample space for expansion. Chill 2 to 24 hours. To freeze, wrap divided loaves in moisture and vaporproof wrap and seal, label and freeze. To use, thaw overnight in the refrigerator. Shape into loaves, brush the tops with melted margarine and bake in a 350 degree oven for 30 to 35 minutes.

Starburst bread

1/3 recipe rich yeast dough
1 egg yolk
1 tablespoon milk
1 teaspoon caraway seed
1 teaspoon fennel seed
1 teaspoon aniseed
1/2 cup margarine or butter, softened

Punch down rich yeast dough. Divide into eight portions. On a lightly floured surface, roll each portion into a 9-inch-long rope. Coil one rope and place in the center of a lightly greased baking sheet. Moisten end of one of the remaining ropes and press into the center of the coil on the baking sheet. Repeat with remaining ropes, arranging them spoke fashion at equal intervals. Coil up the outer end of each rope once. Curve the middle portion of the dough rope slightly. Cover and let rise in a warm place until double (30 to 45 minutes).

In a small bowl, combine egg yolk and milk. Brush over dough. Sprinkle with 1/2 teaspoon of each seed. Bake in a 375 degree oven about 20 minutes or until golden, covering completely with foil after 15 minutes to prevent overbrowning. Remove and cool completely on wire rack.

Meanwhile, in a mortar and pestle, crush the remaining seeds. In a small mixing bowl, stir together crushed seeds and margarine or butter. Serve with bread. Makes 12 servings.

Pinwheel rolls

1/3 recipe rich yeast dough
8 teaspoons margarine or butter, softened
1/4 cup red raspberry, apricot or cherry preserves
Milk
Finely chopped walnuts or pecans

Punch down yeast dough. Divide dough in half. Cover and chill half of the dough. On a floured surface roll remaining dough into a 15x12 1/2-inch rectangle. Cut rolled dough into three 12 1/2x5-inch rectangles. Spread one of the rectangles with 2 teaspoons of margarine. Top with another rectangle. Repeat with another 2 teaspoons of margarine and a dough rectangle. With a sharp knife, cut in half lengthwise. Cut crosswise into fifths. (You will have 10 2 1/2 inch squares.)

Place squares 1 inch apart on a greased baking sheet. With the sharp knife, cut 1-inch slits from center to each corner. Spoon about 1/2 teaspoon of preserves in each center. Fold every other point to center to form a pinwheel. Pinch points together. Brush center of each roll with a little milk. Sprinkle a few nuts on top, press down in center to seal. Repeat with remaining dough. Cover, and let rise a warm place for 20 minutes. Gently press closed the tips of any rolls that opened during rising.

Bake in a 375 degree oven about 12 minutes or until golden. Cool. If desired, spoon additional preserves and sprinkle additional nuts in center of rolls. Makes 20.

Commissioner urges 'Buy American' plan

Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard (D-Westland) last week unveiled a proposed county ordinance that would, if approved, require the county to Buy American whenever it possibly can.

Subsequently, the ordinance would also require "that specifications for contracts and purchase orders contain a requirement that American-made materials and components be used."

Beard, whose district includes Westland, Inkster and Garden City, told the audience that she felt the county had an obligation to assist local and American businessmen and women.

"I especially feel that purchases made with public funds should, whenever possible, be American made," Beard continued. "In the severe economic times we are experiencing, we in Wayne County government have the responsibility and the obligation to assist business and labor to maintain and create jobs locally and to help our economy turn around as quickly as possible.

"Our very high unemployment level can hopefully change if we all try to first buy Wayne County products and services when possible, or Michigan, but definitely American," Beard stressed.

Beard, who chairs the Audit Committee, said that she has been troubled for almost two decades by the increasing number of foreign cars, especially from Japan.

The proposed ordinance would apply to most purchases made from the General Fund of Wayne County and is patterned after the federal law covering purchases made with federal funds.
